LITTLE MISS ENTERTAINS Little Marie Kurtz entertained 21 young friends last Saturday afternoon. It was her sixth birthday, and one long to be remembered. The decorations were pink and white, and she favors the cutest little baskets filled with bonbons. They played games and had refreshments, and everybody had "a awful good time."

TRAFFIC NOT SO HEAVY! Alfred and Wendell Gilhausen of Glendale were guests one day recently of their parents, Mr. and Mrs. R. Gilhausen. Nothing unusual about that, is there. But it is rather a novelty to have your boys drop in unexpectedly by airplane, isn't it?

ENTERTAIN AT CARDS Mr. and Mrs. George W. Towne of Narbonne avenue entertained at dinner and cards last Thursday evening. Their guests included Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Barnes, Mr. and Mrs. H. V. Adams, Mr. and Mrs. C. P. Roberts, Mr. and Mrs. L. J. Hunter, and Mr. and Mrs. M. P. Richey.

Mrs. Lillian Rogers is building a home on her recently acquired half acre on Arizona street.

Mr. and Mrs. C. E. Smith, Mr. and Mrs. Shadd Morgan and Matthew Nesbit, of Evanston, Wyo., were guests Wednesday of J. W. Barnes.

RADIO FANS! WANT TO TUNE IN ON CLEVELAND? HERE'S CHANCE

WTAM, the broadcasting station of the Willard Storage Battery company, Cleveland, O., is planning a special 3-o'clock-in-the-morning program for listeners-in west of the Mississippi, particularly those in the Pacific coast states.

This program will be put on the air beginning at 3 a. m., Eastern time, Saturday, Feb. 9. The concert will come in at midnight, Pacific time.

Radio fans on the west coast should have no trouble in hearing WTAM, as the station has been heard clearly in the Hawaiian Islands. Broadcasting on storage battery power alone, as WTAM does, there is a clearness to the signals, when received at long distances, that marks it as distinctly different from stations using other kinds of power.

Fair western stations are heard regularly in the east. Usually they are distinct, although faint. Interference set up by eastern stations does not block the western stations, for nearly all eastern broadcasting is over by midnight, Eastern time, at which time western stations are going strong.

Officials at WTAM thought turn about would be fair play, so the concert was arranged when there would be no broadcasting either east or west. The Willard Storage Battery company encourages those that hear this special concert to report back on how it was received.

J. A. Smith Makes Announcement On Water Co. No. 4

The meeting of the stockholders of Narbonne Ranch Water Company No. 4 was postponed from January 28 to February 25.

Because of the failure of property holders to notify the secretary of change of address, or of change of ownership, it was impossible to get in touch with a sufficient number of stockholders to hold a meeting.

The condition that holds in No. 4 is probably true of the other local companies. A lot of property has changed hands in the past few years; in many cases the water stock has not been transferred on the company's books. The owners of the land, in such cases, will not be allowed to vote unless they hold a proxy, and the proxies must be accompanied by the proper revenue stamp. A heavy fine may be imposed for voting proxies without stamp.

Stock of record only may be voted. The meeting is of interest to every stockholder. While the par value of only $10, the actual value of the stock is $250 per share. The present board of directors is greatly dissatisfied with the lack of interest shown in the company. During the past year over $40,000 has been expended in betterment and upkeep. You should be interested enough to want to know where your money went, and why.

The secretary has received several hundred dollars on assessments, and he doesn't know where to credit the money; doesn't know the number of the stock owned, nor the legal description of the property that the stock covers.

There are also assessments on quite a lot of stock that has not been paid, and the secretary has been unable to get in touch with the owners. This stock will soon be sold for the assessments, and after it is sold the company will not be allowed to furnish water for your land, as it is not a selling company and can furnish water for stockholders only.

So many of the stockholders do not seem to realize that it is their own property that is being looked after by the directors.

Every holder of stock is urged to get in touch with at least one other and see that they, too, look after their interests. If you have acquired your property recently, and the water stock has not been transferred, see to it at once and get record on the company's books. Get touch children some time, somewhere, see the secretary.

If you have changed from the R. F. D. to the local postoffice, or vice versa, advise the secretary of the change. DO THIS NOW, or you may find yourself without water. J. A. SMITH.
